PREFACE.

In this, the New Harp of Columbia, the same system of Notation is adhered to as in the old Harp.

The "Elements of Music" are arranged in a different form, and somewhat extended. They are written as short as possible, and but little space is taken up with practical cxercises. In many books the Elementary Principles, or Rudiments, by the introduction of many exercises for practice, are swelled to from twenty to thirty pages, and yet contain no more important directions than are found in the few pages of this work. The new beginner, in looking at the many pages of rules, may suppose that all of this ong list is something obliged to be learned, and hence is disheartened, and often deterred from an effort to learn. Then let the practical part be obtained in singing tunes anywhere through the book, by which an interest is kept up in the mind of the learner.

Between fifty and one hundred tunes, selected and original, will be found in this that are not in the old Harp. Such tunes as are seldom used have been discarded, and their places filled by others of superior merit. No alterations whatever have been made in the tunes retained from the old book.

A lesson on the transposition of the keys will be found, and all the newly inserted tunes are written with the signs of transposition. Teachers who feel it important to give instructions in this lesson can question their classes as to what signatures (sharps or flats) would be placed to those tunes having none, and thus advance them as fast as by any other means.

The objection to the system of round notes is the constant exertion neccssary to read the music with facility and certainty, even by good singers and those of much practice.

A very popular error exists in the minds of many, who are not strangers altogether to music, in regard to transposition, or the characters called thats and sharps. Many suppose that they affect the music: when the truth is, they serve no purpose but as signs of the key, and without which music in round notes would be a sealed book. The stereotyped argument in favor of round notes, "that before you can sing you must know the principles," is true ; but it is no more true than that they must be understood to sing shaped notes. Think of a man attempting to sing a tune, in any kind of notes, that he never heard, without knowing the time, the relative length of the notes, the key, the sounds of the scale, tones and semitones, &c.!

The English alphabet is composed of twenty-six sounds, for each of which there is a distinct character or shape representing it, called a letter. We might, possibly, have learned to read with these all of the same shape, but we could not have learned any more correctly than we have done.

Music, then, has seven natural sounds, for each of which, in this work, there is a character, or shape, called a note, from which any one can sing much more readily, and as correctly as if they were all the same shape.

The use of the system of four notes has generally, very willingly, and reasonably, given way to this.
Not expecting nor desiring to entirely supersede all other books, the "Elements of Music" in this are made sufficiently comprehensive to enable any one who understands them to sing from others.

The parts are arranged as will be seen in Lesson VI. In some books the Air is termed the Treble. It can make no difference which it is called, 'Treble or Tenor, so it is understood. Teachers can direct their class in this as they may prefer. See the definition by Webster.

As the Air is the leading part, and as the female voice is superior, i would assign that part mainly to females, and the Treble (as here called) to men whose voices are high. Thus I present the book to the public.

ELEMEN'TS OF VOCAL MUSIC.

CESSON 1 .

BRACE, CLEFS, STAFF, AND BARS.
Music is written on five parallel lines and the spaces between, whieh is called a Staff.
In Voeal Musie there are mostly four parts: Bass, Tenor, Alto, and Treble. These parts are ineluded by a Braee at the beginning, represented by eharaeters ealled Clefs, and are entitled to a note, or sound, for eaeh degree, or line and space, and are divided into measures by perpendicular lines, called Bars, as in the example bclow.

G Clef always stands on the Tenor and Treble, and generally on the Alto; giving the same line or spaee in eaeh of these parts the same sound. Thus, the notes or eharaeters on the Tenor, Alto, and Treble staffs, as in the above example, have the same sound on a corresponding degree.

F Clef always stands on the Bass staff, and places it one sixth below the other three parts; thus making the third spaee in the Bass to have the same sound as the first line of the other parts. When the Alto is represented by the F Clef, it is sounded like the Bass.

In counting the degrees of the staff, count from the lowest line unward. When notes transeend the staff, either above or below, short lines are used, called Leger Lines, or Added Lines.

The staff having nine degrecs docs not show that there are nine distinct sounds, as will be seen hereafter

LESSON II.

NOTES AND RESTS.

Notes of' different names and different lengths are used to convey musical sounds,--either high or low, from their place on the staff, or long or short, from forms representing a relative length.

ELEMENTS OF VOCAL MUSIC.

In this work, seven notes of different shapes and names are used to represent the seven natural sounds of music, which are shaped and called thus:-

In the above scale, the 8 th note is the same sound as the 1 st; that is, the same character of sound, but a higher pitch.

ReLative length of notes.

A Whole Note is white without a stcm; also called a Semibreve.
A Half Note is white with a stem; also called a Minim.
A Quarter Note is black with a stem; also called Crotchet.
An Eighth Note is black with a hook to the stem; also called Quaver.

A Sixtecnth Note is black with two hooks to the stem; calied Semi-quaver.

A Thirty-Second Note is black with three hooks to the stem; called Demi-scmi-quaver.
Each of these notes has a rest of cqual length to itself.

A Kepeat-or points in the spaces of the staff-directs a return from the first double bar, or close, and to sing that strain again.

The figures 1 and 2 show that the note under 1 is sung before repeating, and that under 2 in repeating.

If two notes are connected by a slur, the one under the figure 1 is sung before repeating, and both in repeating.

The Slur shows the number of notes sung to one syllable of the words.

Two or more notes having their stems joined are also sung to one syllable of the words.

A Dot, or point, at the right hand of a note or rest, adds one-half more length to the note.

The figure 3 over or under three notes indicates that they are sung one-third quicker than the regular time of such notes.

A Hold, or Pause, over a note or rest, adds to that note or rest about one-fourth of its proper time.
D. C., or Da Capo, at the apparent end of a tune, shows that the tune is concluded with the first strain, or any designated strain

Staeeato marks show that the notes over which they are plaeed are to be sung short and distinet.

Graee Notes guide the voiee to the succeeding note, with slight stress,-being barely sounded.

Choosing Notes are placed one over the other:-either may be sung, or one voiee may sound one, and another voice the other.

When two or more notes of the same sound are slurred, the first, only, is named, and the sound continued on the length of the others.

A Sharp before a note elevates that note half a tone.
A Flat lefore a note depresses that note half a tone.
A Prisa denotes a repetition of preceding words.

LESSON III.

VARIETIES OF TIME.

There are three distinct kinds of Time, or movement: Double, Even, or Common; Triple, or Uneven; and Sextuple, or Compound; and each has eonsistent varieties, which are designated by two figures in the staff, at the beginning of all tunes.

DOUBLE, EVEN, OR COMMON TIME

2 over 2 is the representation of the first variety, or mode, of this time; sung in about three seconds to each measure, two beats, accented on both parts of the measure when filled by half-notes, and when filled by fourths, on the first and third parts of these.

-4
4 over 4 represents the second variety of this time (or it may be called Quadruple time); sung in about two seconds and a half to the measure, four beats, and accented on the first and third parts of the measure.

2 over 4 is the third variety; sung in about one and a half seconds to the measure, two beats, and accented on the first part of the measure.

TRIPLE OR UNEVEN TIME.

3 over 2 represents the first variety of this time; sung in about three seconds to a measure, three beats, full aecent on the first and partial on the second part of the measure.

3 over 4 marks the second variety of this time; sung in abuut two seconds to a measure, beat and accented as the first.

3 over 8 is the third variety; sung in about one second; beats and accent like the first and sccond.

SEXTUPLE OR COMPOUND TIME.

6 over 4 represents the first variety of this kind of time; sung in about two and a half seconds to the measure, two beats, and accented on the first and fourth parts of the mcasure.

6 over 8 is the second variety; sung in about one and a half seconds to the measure, same beats and accent as the first.

The upper figure shows how many parts the measure is divided into, and the lower figure the value or length of these parts: 卷 shows that two half-notes fill a measure, $\frac{3}{2}$ that three half-notes, or ${ }_{4}^{6}$ that six fourthnotes, or their equivalent, fill a measure.

Beating Time is a motion of the hand to regulate the time all the way through the tune; by which every measure, and the notes of each measure, are apt to be made equal, in proportion to their value.

In beating two beats, perform them down and up; three beats, down, left, and up; and for four beats, down, left, right, and up.

In Sextuple, or Compound time, six beats, down, down, left, right, up, up, would be a complete and proper keeping of the time; but it may be kept very properly, and perhaps with more ease, to beat down on the first part, rest the hand on the second and third, up on the fourth, and rest on the fifth and sixth.

LESSON IV.

OF THE KEYS.
There are two keys: the Major, or greater key, and the Minor, or lesser key. In all properly arranged tunes the last note in the Bass is the keynote. If that note is Do, it is 1 of the scale, and is the representative and foundation of the Major key. If it is La, the tune is a Minor key, and that note is 1 of that scale. In the seven sounds, natural with the voice, there are five tones, and one semitone, or half-tone, in the Major key; while there are but four whole tones, and two semitones, in the Minor key. The semitones always occur between $M i$ and $F a$, and $S i$ and Do. See example.

Thus it is seen that the Major key is greater than the Minor by one half-tone. In each of the above exanoples there is a lack of one note to complete the Octave, or eighth sound. This would be Do in the Major, and La in the Minor key. Each of these sounds would be the same as the first, only on a higher pitch, and would be the last of that Octave, or the first of another going on higher. The vibration of the human voice, in making this eighth sound, is discovered to correspond so exactly with the first, that a similarity is seen in these two sounds, the 1st and 8th, not to be found in any other two of the Octave.

This, together with the singular natural difference between the male and female voices, justifies the opinion that there are but seven sounds in music. The female voice is naturally eight degrees more acute, or higher, than the malc voice. and thus when 1 of the scale is sounded by the male voice, that of the female, in imitating it, makes exactly the pitch of the male voice for the 8th sound, and so on as far as the voices can reach, either high or low; the female voice an 8th, or an Octave higher, and yet the same sound.

The note on the next degree of the staff, either above or below any given note, is called a Second, the next a Third, &c. In counting these degrees, or intervals, as sometimes called, the first and last notes are always counted with those intervening; as from Do to Sol, ascending the scale, is a fifth, and in descending, a fourth.

A Major 3d is three sounds without a semitone; a Minor 3d is three sounds with a semitone.

Some authors insist that there is but one key，but the majority of writers adopt the two keys；although it must be admitted that the dis－ tinction of sounds in the two is slight．

In the Major scale， $\mathrm{D}_{0}$ is $1, \mathrm{Mi}$ is 3 ，and Sol is 5 ；while in the Minor we take La as 1 ；then $D_{0}$ is 3 ，and Mi 5 ，of that scale，which brings the semitones lower ut chis scale than in the Major key．

When the key is changed in a tune，the key－note to which it is changed takes the same sound as the other had，if occupying the same degree of the staff．

The key is rarely changed，except in Anthems．

LESSON V．

musical letters，and transposition of the keys．＊

The different sounds of the Natural，or Diatonic Scale，are said to be represented by the first seven letters of the alphabet， $\mathrm{A}, \mathrm{B}, \mathrm{C}, \mathrm{D}, \mathrm{E}$ ， $F$ ，and $G$ ，and each line and space of the staff is named from one of these letters，as in the example below ：－

It thus appears that the first line of the Bass Staff is called G，and the other degrees go on with the letters in regular order to the added line above（or middle line），and then into the Tenor，Alto，and Treble Staffs，E being the first line of these staffs，etc．
＊For remarks on this lesson，see the Pretace．

If the Alto is represented by the F ，or Bass Clef，as it sometimes is， the letters then stand on it as on the Bass．

Transposition is removing the key from one letter，or place，upon the staff to another，either higher or lower．

The key takes its namc from the letter on which it stands：as，for example，when Do is on C it is called the key of C，and is said to be the Natural key．

When no signatures，（\＃）sharps or（b）flats，are found at the beginning of the tune，immediately after the Clefs， $\mathrm{D}_{0}$ is on C ，and the Relative Minor key，La，is on A

The Relative Minor to any Major key is found a sixth above．or a third below．
When Do，or the key－note，stands on other letters of the staff．one or more of the characters called（ $\ddagger$ ）sharps or（b）flats are placed on cer－ tain letters of the staff，at the beginning of the tune，as a sign of the key．
One \＃is the signature of $G$ ．One $b$ is the signature of $F$ ． Two 井井＂＂＂＂D．Two bb＂＂．．＂B． Three 开井\＃＂＂＂＂A．Three bbb＂＂＂． E ．

Or，as in the next example，which shows the letters of the staff，upon which these signatures are placed for each key．

THE KEYS BY SHARPS

The above are the keys of the several letters, and are pitched high or low, as they stand high or low on the staff.
To get the proper pitch of a tune, in any of the keys, by the voice, sound the key-note, and pass from that to the lowest note in the.Bass, and also to the highest note in the Tenor or Treble. If both of these are made with ease, the proper pitch is supposed to be very nearly, if not exactly, ascertained. If the result is not satisfactory, the effort is continued until satisfactory.

LESSON VI.

music in parts.
A Part in music appears to the eye as any number of notes on any one staff. The Treble is one Part, the Bass is another Part, &c.

Music is composed of one, two, three, four, and sometimes more parts.
When in one part, it is called Melody; in two or more parts, it is said to be in Harmony; and these parts are so composed that all will harmonize when sung together.

Four parts are as many as are used in ordinary church music. The parts, most generally, in this country, have been arranged in the following order:*-

Upper Staff, Treble, ladies who can sing high.
Next below, Alto or Counter, ladies who can sing low.

Next below, Tenor, men who can sing high.

Lowest Staff, Bass, men who can sing low.
Below is a scale showing the connection of the parts, or which degrees of the Bass and the other parts have the same sound, &c.

The above scale contains fifteen sounds, or two Octaves; which is about the compass of ordinary voices.

There is no distinction in the sounds of the Tenor, Alto, and Treble, unless the Alto is represented by the F, or Bass Clef. Then it bears the same connection to the Tenor and Treble that the Bass does

THE CHORDS.

The combination of the sounds $1,3,5,8$, or $\mathrm{D}_{0}, \mathrm{Mi}, \mathrm{Sol}_{\mathrm{l}}, \mathrm{D}_{0}$, is the most pleasing and agreeable form of harmony.

Let these sounds be made together by the four parts, one part sounding Do, another Mi, another Sol, another Do (8), and observe how agreeable the Chord.

It is termed the Common Chord.
The 6th is classed among the Concords.
The 2d, 4th, and 7th are reckoned as Discords, but the 4 th is used in composition, and is a reasonably good chord.

The 2 d and 7 th are to be avoided, as being particularly harsh and disagreeable to the ear.

Two sounds of the same pitch are called a Unison.
When any sound is succeeded by the sound on the first degree of the staff, either above or bclow, the interval is called a Second; if by the sound on the second degree, the interval is called a Third, &c.

LESSON VII.

CHROMATIC SCALE.

It will be remembered that the natural succession of Tones and Semitones in the Octave forms what is called the Diatonic Scale.

Another Scale is formed by dividing all the Tones of the Diatonic Scale into half-tones, thus forming an entire scale of half-tones.

This is called the Chromatic Scale.
This scale is required but little in ordinary plain music, and is not usually much studied or practised.

ur Performance.

To sing in good taste and with the greatest effect, the souuds should be varied,-sometimes singing louder, and sometimes softer, according to the character and sentiment of the words.

One strain, or even one measure, of a tune may be sung loud, and another soft, as the meaning or expression of the words may direct.

In some books, terms are used to denote these distinctions.
Let all singers exercise their own good sense, and vary the performance according to the spirit of the song; study the meaning and sense of every song they sing, and enter into the spirit of the same, never indulging in a careless, lifeless performance.

Let every word, in singing, be spoken or pronounced as distinctly as in speaking; so that not only the sounds of the music are heard, but the song is comprehended, and an effect produced that would not be from sounds alone.

Enter into the emotions expressed by the poetry, and let the sounds come from the heart with an enersy, a meaning, and a soul.

And now that the important principles of Vocal Music are explained in the foregoing lessons, on this and the next page will be found exercises of the scale and the intervals, which should be practised until every sound becomes entirely familiar, remembering that all tunes are formed from these sounds.

Thy fear forbids my feet to stray, Thy promise leads my heart to rest.

3. Oh what hath Jesus bought for me Before my ravish'd eyes,
Rivers of life divine I see, And trees of Paradisc!
I see a world of spirits bright, Who taste the pleasures there!
They all are robed in spotless white, And conquering palms they bear.
4. Oh what are all my sufferings here, If, Lord, thou count me meet, With that enraptured host t' appear, And worship at thy fect
Give joy or grief, give ease or pain Take life or friends away:
But let me find them all ngain In that eternal dav.

5. Let those refuse 10 sing

Who never knew our God;
But servants of the heavenly King May speak their joys abroad.
3. The God that rules on high, That all the earth surveys, That rides upon the stormy sky, And calms the roaring seas;
4. This awful God is ours, Our Father and our Love; He will send down his heavenly powers To carry us above.
5. There we shall see his face And never. never sin,

There, from the rivers of his grace, Drink endless pleasures in :
6. Yea, and before we rise To that immortal state,
The thoughts of such amazing bliss Should constant joys create.
7. The men of grace have found Glory begun below :
Celestial fruit on earthly ground, From faith and hope may grow;
8. Then let our songs abound, And every tear be dry :
We're marching through Immanuel's ground, To fairer worlds on nigh.

3. Here, when thy messengers proclaim The blessed gospel of thy Son, Still by the power of his great name Be mighty signs and wonders done.
4. When children's voices raise the song, Hosanna! to their heavenly King, Let heaven with earth the strain prolong Hosanna! let the angels sing.
5. But will, indeed, Jehovah deign Here to abide, no transient guest ! Here will our great Qedeemer reign, And here the Holy Spirit rest ?
6. 'Thy glory never hence depar. Yet choose pot, Lord, this house alone
Thy kingdom come to every heart. In every bosom tix thy tarone.

4. Ye mountains and valleys, groves, rivers, and plains, Thou earth, and thou ocean, adieu;
More permanent regions where righteousness reigns, Present their bright hills to my view.
5. My loved habitation, and garden, adieu, No longer my footsteps ye greet;
A mansion celestial stands full in my view, And paradise welcomes my feet.
6. My weeping relations, my brothers and friends, Whose souls are entwined with my own,
Adieu ior the present, my spirit ascends Where pleasures immortal are known.
7. My cares and my ladours. my sickness and pain, And sorrows, are now at an ena;
The summit of bliss I sha!l speedily gain, The height of perfection ascenc.

2. Give up ourselves through Jesus' power, His name to glorify;
And promise in this sacred hour For God to live and die.

I am bound, &c.
3. The covenant we this noment make, Be ever kept in mind;
We will no more our God forsake Or cast his words benind.
4. We never will throw off his fear, Who hears our solemn vow, And if thou art well pleased to hear Come down, and meet us now!
5. Thee, Father, son, and Holy Ghost, Let all our hearts receive Present with the celestial host, The peacefol answer gite.
6. To each the covenant blood apply, Which takes our sins away; And register our names on high, And keep us to that dav.

2. But now I am a soldier, My Captain's gone before, He's given me my orders. And tells me not to fear: And if I hold out faithful, A crown of life he'll give, And all his valiant soldiers Eternal life shall have!
3. Through grace I am determined To conquer though I die, And then away to Jesus, On wings of love I'll fly. Farewell to sin and sorrow, I bid you all adieu;
And you, my friends, prove faitliful, And on your way pursue.
4. And if you meet with trials And troubles on the way, Cast all your cares on Jesus, And don't forget to pray.

Gird on the gospel armour Of faith, and hope, and love, And when the combat's ended, You'll reign with him above.
5. $O$ ! do not be discouraged, For Jesus is your friend; And if you lack for knowledge, He'll not forget to lend:
Neither will he upbraid you, Though oftener you request ; He'll give you grace to conquer, And take you up to rest.
6. Farewell, my Christian brethren,

I'm going home to God,
To see my blessed Jesus, Who bought me with his blood;
There I will sit and praise Him A crown He's bought for me,
And sing the song of Moses To all eternitv.

2. Sinners, turn, why will ye die? God your Saviour asks you why?

Asks the work of his own hands; Why, ye thankless creatures, why Will ye cross his love and die?
 He who did your souls retrieve Died himself that ye might live, Will ye let him die in vain, Crucify your Lord again? Why, ye rebel sinners, why Will ye slight his grace and die?
3. Sinuers, turn, why will ye die? God the Spirit asks you why? Many a time with you he strove, Wooed you to embrace his love: Will ye not his grace receive? Will ye still refuse to live? Why will ye for ever die? Oh! ye guilty sinners, why ?

Those conclude they've light enough, And think their lamps are blazing.
4. Foolish virgins ! do you think Our Bridegroom's a deceiver? Then may you pass your lives away, And think to sleep for ever;
But we by faith do see his face, On whom we have believed:
If there's deception in the case, 'Tis you that are deceived.

ALIANS FAREWELA. ،

2. Though in distant lands we sigh, Parch'd beneath the hostile sky; Though the deep between us rolls, Friendship shall unite our souls; And in fancy's wide domain, There shall we all meet again.
3. When our burnish'd locks are gray, Thinn'd by many a toil-spent day, When around the youthful pine Moss shall creep and ivy twine; Long may the loved bow'r remain, Ere we all shall meet again.
4. When the dreams of life are fled, When its wasted lamps are dead; When in cold oblivion's shade, Beauty, wealth and fame are laid. Where immortal spirits reign,
There mav we all meet again

2. Why should I make a man my trust? Princes must die and turn to dust; Vain is the help of flesh and blood: Their breath departs, their pomp and power And thoughts all ranish in an hour, Nor can they make their promise good.
3. Happy the man whose hopes rely On Israel's God: he made the sky, And earth and seas, with all their train; His truth for ever stands secu;e; He saves th' opprest, he feeds the poor, And none shall find his promise vain.
4. The Lord hath eyes to give the blind; The Lord supports the sinking mind; He sends the labouring conscience peace; He helps the stranger in distress. The widow and the fatheriess, And grants the prisoner sweet release.

2. The crown that decks the monarch Is not the crown for me; It dazzles but a mo-ment, Its brightness soon will flee. But there's a crown prepared a-

3. The road that many travel Is not the road for me. It leads to death and sorrow, In it I would not be.
But there's a road that leads to God,
'Tis mark'd by Christ's most precious blood, The passage here is free,
Oh that's the road for me.
4. The hope that sinners cherish Is not the hope for me; Most surely will they perish Unless from sin made frce But there's a hope which rests in Ged. And leads the soul to keep his vord.

And sinful pleasures flee;
Oh that's the hope for me

2. Speak with a voice that wakes the dead And bid the sleeper rise; And let his guilty conscience dread The death that never dies.
3. Let us receive the word we hear, Each in an honest heart ;
Lay up the precious treasure there, And never with it part.
4. Now let our darkness comprehend The light that shines so clear ; Now the revealing Spirit send, And give us ears to hear.

- 2. Hasten mercy to implore;

Stay not, stay not for the morrow's sun,
Lest thy season should be o'er,
Ere this evening's course be run
3. Hasten, sinner, to return;

Stay not, stay not for the morrow's sun,
Lest thy lamp should cease to burn,
Ere salvation's work is done.
4. Hasten, smmer, to be bless'd;

Stay not, stay not for the morrow's sun,
Lest perdition thee arrest,
Ere the morrow is begun.
5. Lord, do thou the sinner turn :

Rouse him, rouse him from his senseless state;
Let him not thy counsel spurn,
And lament his chorce too lave.

INDEX OF FIRST LINES

(Compiled by Ron Petersen)

A charge to keep I have 129
A home in heav'n! what a joyful thought! 87
All hail the pow'r of Jesus' name 116, 117
Almighty God! eternal Lord! 137
Am I a soldier of the eross 141
And if you meet with troubles 56
And let this feeble body fail 43
As on the eross the Savior hung $17,93,112$
Awake, my heart, arise, my tongue 94
Awake, my soul, to joyful lays 28,66
Awake, my tongue, thy tribute bring 23
Awake our souls, away our fears 75
Before Jehovah's awful throne 11
Behold! the Judge deseends! Behold! 174
Behold the man, threescore and ten 113
Behold, the morning sun 81
Behold, thou art fair, my love 187
Bless, $\mathbf{O}$ my soul, the living God 36
Blest be the dear uniting love 13
Blow ye the trumpet, blow 42
Brethren, we have met to worship 107
Bright scenes of glory strike my sense 78
Broad is the road that leads to death 18
Brother, thou art gone to rest 73
Burst, ye em'rald gates, and bring 162
Cease, ye mourners, cease to languish 97 Come away to the skies 123, 144
Come, humble sinner, in whose breast 24
Come, let us anew Our journey pursue 126
Come, let us use the grace divine $\mathbf{4 7}$

Come, thou Fount of every blessing 56
Come, ye diseonsolate, where'er ye languish
Come, ye that love the Lord 44
Come, ye who love the Lord 12
Did Christ o'er sinners weep? 68
Early, my God, without delay 58, 158
Eternity draws nigh 67
Far distant from my Father's house 138
Father of mercies, God of love! 28
Father, whate er of earthly bliss 63
From Grcenland's iey mountains 88, 164
Glorious things of thee are spoken 30
Good morning, brother pilgrim 148
Grace! 'tis a charming sound 90,131
Great God, attend while Zion sings 161
Great is the Lord! our souls adore! 62
Guide ine, $\mathbf{O}$ thou great Jehovah 145
LIail the day that saw him rise 173
Hark! how the choral sound of heav'n 51
Hark how the gospel trumpet sounds 172
llark! ten thousand harps and voices 108
Hark! the Redeemer, from on high 178
Hasten, O sinner, to be wise 178
Hasten, sinner, to be wise 140
Heav'nly Father, sovereign Lord 96
Here, in thy name, eternal God 45
How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord 57

How happy the people that dwell 150
How long, dear Saviour, Oh! how long 115
How lost was my eondition 147
How pleasant, how divinely fair 100
IIow pleasant 'tis to see 153
How sweet the light of Sabbath eve 22
How tedious and tasteless the hours 16
I am the rose of Sharon 199
If angels sung a Saviour's birth 152
I know that my Redeemer lives 68
I'll praise my Maker with my breath 135
I love the volume of thy word 41
I love thy kingdom, Lord 82
I love to steal a while away 58
In God's own house pronounce his praise 14
In seasons of grief my God I'll repair 127
In songs of sublime adoration and praise 49
I would not live alway 70,122
Jerusalem! my happy home! 74
Jesus, lover of my soul 65, 103
Jesus, Master, hear me now 27
Jesus, the vision of thy face 61
Joy to the world 130
Let all the land, with shouts of joy 5
Let every creature join 157
Let not despair, nor fell revenge 53
Lo! on a narrow neek of land 90
Lord, and is thine anger gone 105
Lord, in the morning thou shalt hear 53

Lord, 'tis an infinite delight 98
Lord, what a thoughtless wretch was I 175
Lord, what a wretched land is this 120
Lord, what is man, poor feeble man? 129
Lord, when thou didst ascend on high 23
Mary to the Saviour's tomb 120
Mid scenes of confusion and creature complaints 54,55
Mine eyes are now closing to rest 185
My Christian friends, in bonds of love 95
My country! 'tis of thee 31
My days, my weeks, my months, my years 83
My drowsy pow'rs, why sleep ye so? 38
My faith looks up to thee 125
My friends, I am going a long and tedious journey 219
My Saviour and my King 25
My soul, be on thy guard 80
My soul, come meditate the day 110
Now is the heat of youthful blood 155
O for a thousand tongues to sing 33
O glorious hope of perfect love 91
O gracious Lord of all 131
Oh, could I speak the matchless worth 76
Oh! for a closer walk with God 128
Oh, happy is the man who hears 52
Oh, praise the Lord in that blest place 21
Oh, sing to me of heav'n 73
Once more, my soul, the rising day 62
One spark, O God, of heav'nly fire 86
On Jordan's stormy banks I stand 26, 177
On the mountain top appearing 114
O praise God in his holiness 216
O thou whose tender mercy hears 69
Our days are as the grass 181
O when shall I see Jesus 48,99
Plunged in a gulf of dark despair 6
Remember, Lord, our mortal state 180
Rise, my soul, and stretch thy wings 92,169
Salvation! Oh the joyful sound! 133

Save me, O God! the swelling floods 113 Saviour, visit thy plantation 60
Sing hallelujah, praise the Lord! 75
Sinners, turn, why will ye die? 50
Sister, thou wast mild and lovely 104
Soldiers of the cross, arise 109
Songs anew of honor framing 108
Soon may the last glad song arise 34
Sweet is the mem'ry of thy grace 69
Sweet is the work, my God, my King 106
Swell the anthem, raise the song 27
The chariot! the chariot! 77
Thce, we adore, Eternal Name 39
The heav'ns declare thy glory, Lord 20
The hill of Zion yields 164
The Lord is risen indeed 195
The Lord Jehovah reigns 96
The Lord my pasture shall prepare 41
The morning sunshines from the east 208
The pearl that worldlings covet 136
There is a fountain, fill'd with blood 64
There is a house not made with hands 206
There is a land of pure delight 101
There is an hour of peaceful rest 97
There is one God, and only one 119
The seatter'd clouds are fled at last 170
The Spirit in our hearts 149
The time is swiftly rolling on 32
This book is all that's left me now 72
This is the day the Lord hath made 59
This is the feast of heav'nly wine 111
Thou art gone to the grave 102
Thou art passing away 125
Thy gracious presence, O my God 139
Thy name, almighty Lord 80
Thy praise, O Lord, shall tune the lyre 21
Thy works of glory, mighty Lord 159
Time is winging us away 87
'Tis by thy strength the mountains stand 52

Today the Saviour calls 133
To God, in whom I trust 81
To Thee, O blessed Saviour 118
To the hills I lift my eyes 114
To us a Child of hope is born 64
Triumphant Zion, lift thy head 34
Unite my roving thoughts 39
Watchman, tell us of the night 29, 184
Welcome delightful morn 132
What sorrowful sounds do I hear 166
What's this that steals 124
What wondrous love is this 143
When all thy mercies, O my God 67
When I can read my title clear 35,40
When, in death, I shall calm recline 71
When rising from the bed of death 37
When shall the voice of singing 154
When shall we all meet again?
134
When shall we meet again 168
When the midnight cry began 84
When through the torn sail the wild tempest is streaming 121
Where are the friends, that to me were so dear 183
While beauty and youth are in their full prime 89
While thee I seek, protecting Power 151
Why should I be afrighted 85
Why should the children of a King 33
Why should we start and fear to die? 15
Within thy house, O Lord our God 36
With joy we hail the sacred day 72
With songs and honours sounding loud 146
Ye Christian heroes, go proclaim 22
Ye nations round the earth rejoice 19
Ye objects of sense and enjoyments of time 46
Ye servants of God, your Master proclaim 156
Ye simple souls that stray 79
Yes, my native land, I love thee 182
Yes, we trust the day is breaking 104
Young people, all attention give 163
