A. 1690.

Ad Benevolum Lectorem.

*N*on ausus fuisset, amice Lector, opus viribus meis longe impar; nisi Magni Principis suffultus Munificentia; stimulatus, & penè coactus multorum desiderio; efficaciter tractus Musicorum etiam calculo; boni publici amore, & Philomusicorum favore. Haud etenim me fugit floruisse; haecenus Viros hujus scientiae, ac dexteritatis peritissimos: at quia jam a septuaginta prope annis ipsis, aio, Fredebaldi temporibus, simile quidpiam Typis commissum fuisse, non mihi innotuit, ipse stylus, haud modicè hucusque immutatus hanc operam exigere videbatur. Quibus permotus hoc primum Opus Organisticum meditabar spiritu promptu, sed Viribus infirmis, atque imparibus. Et Ecce fortuitum auxilium; Dum Ego omni studio huic operi me impenderem, expensas solvit Alter: CELSISSIMUS, inquam, ac REVERENDISSIMUS PRINCEPS & ARCHIEPISCOPUS SALISBURGENSIS, Dominus, Dominus, ac Mæcenas meus Clementissimus, Munificentissimus. Huic itaque boni publici amantissimo Zeloti, in acceptis refer; meam autem, qualem qualem operam, Lector Benevole, aequi, bonique consule, Et ad ea qua in hoc opere praeponenda duxi, benignè ac breviter animum adverte.

Ufus, sum in tradendis his Modulationibus crebriore Clavium indicialium mutatione; eò nimirum, quod adverterim necessariam omninò his temporibus maximè ad transponendas in diversos alios tonos quaslibet melotheses, perfectam Clavium omnium notitiam. Habebunt itaque Philomusici in addiscendis hisce meis Modulationibus, Clavium, uti & temporum Musicorum modernorum serè omnium plenum, ac proficuum in opere, ut spero Exercitium.

Porrò signatum simplex, tremulum ordinarium, quo nota ita signata cum proximâ clavi superiori tremiscit, significat. verò cui similis virgula subducta cernitur, semitremulum vulgò mordant. quo nota ita signata cum clavi inferiori proximâ, eaque saepè (ubi aures id non vetant) per semitonium majus distante tremiscit, ita circumflexum, tremulum recentioris modi, scil. qui post absolutum tremulum ordinarium more solito cum notâ superiore exhibitum, inferiorem etiam notam unicâ vice tantum assumit, denotat. Hoc vero signum tremulum longum ad extremum usque continuatum indicat. Litteræ P. M. Pedale ad libitum, ad Manuale Claviarium simul usurpandum significant. P. S. Pedale solum. M. S. Manuale solum.

Cetera sano Judicio pollens Musicus ipsemet levi negotio colliget, qui si hic conatus meus placet, plura cum tempore, Deo favente, videbit. In quibusdam enim & modum eleganter pulsandi Theorico-practicè, uti & multa alia alijs operibus, ut confido, traditurus sum. Tu stylum hunc meum, illâ quam praestantissimorum Organædorum Germaniae, Italiae, ac Galliae praxi, ac consuetudine adeptus sum experientiâ mixtum, ac nondum adeo notum, ac solitum interea proba; & si allubet approba. Deum ama, & lauda in Chordis & Organo, quò Clementissimi, ac Munificentissimi Mæcenatis mei intentio potissimum collineat.

P. S. Cùm post humillimè oblatum, & quidem ad Augustissimas Sac.^{ae} Cæs.^{ae} Majestatis manus Augustae Vindelicorum, Clementissimèque auditum, ac Munificentissimè acceptum hoc opus, Mihi reduci ad obediendum in posterum apud Rev.^{mum} ac Cels.^{mum} Episcopum & Principem Passaviensem Capellæ Magistrum, nec non DD. Epæborem Praefecti officium, Salisburgo Passavium domicilium meum transferendum fuerit; mutationis hujus obfuturi litterarum aut Musicalium commercij securitatem hujic etiam Benevolum Lectorem postremò monendum censui.

The first system consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and contains a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, some beamed together, with a few rests. The lower staff is in bass clef and contains a similar rhythmic pattern of eighth and sixteenth notes, with some longer note values. There are some markings above the notes, possibly indicating fingerings or dynamics.

The second system continues the musical piece. The upper staff shows more complex rhythmic patterns, including some sixteenth-note runs. The lower staff also continues with similar patterns, showing some changes in note values and rests. There are some markings above the notes, possibly indicating fingerings or dynamics.

The third system consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and contains a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, some beamed together, with a few rests. The lower staff is in bass clef and contains a similar rhythmic pattern of eighth and sixteenth notes, with some longer note values. There are some markings above the notes, possibly indicating fingerings or dynamics.

The fourth system continues the musical piece. The upper staff shows more complex rhythmic patterns, including some sixteenth-note runs. The lower staff also continues with similar patterns, showing some changes in note values and rests. There are some markings above the notes, possibly indicating fingerings or dynamics.

The fifth system consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and contains a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, some beamed together, with a few rests. The lower staff is in bass clef and contains a similar rhythmic pattern of eighth and sixteenth notes, with some longer note values.
