

"The Smiling Plains"

CANZONET.

Written by Falconer.

with an Accompaniment for the Piano Forte.

Composed by

G. F. Pinto.

Ent. Sto. Hall.

Price 1. 6.

London, Printed by the Royal Harmonic Institution Lower-Saloon, Argyll Rooms.

Andante Cantabile.

The smiling plains, profusely gay, Are dress'd in all the pride of May; The Birds on ev'ry spray above to rapture wake the vocal grove.

But oh! MI - RAN - DA! with - out thee, nor spring nor summer smile on me: all lone - ly in the se - cret shade I mourn thy absence charming maid, Oh

f

soft as love as honour fair; Se - rene - ly sweet as ver - nal air!

Come to my arms, for you a lone can all my absence past a tone, O cres.

come and to my bleeding heart thy sov'reign balm of love impart; thy

cen - do

pre - - - sence lasting joys shall bring and give the year e - ter - nal spring.

cres - - - dim

sf

cres - - - cen - do