

SONATA VI

Allegro

The musical score is written for piano in G major, 2/4 time, and is marked 'Allegro'. It consists of six systems of two staves each. The first system includes a brace on the left and the tempo marking 'Allegro' in the treble staff. The music features a variety of note values, including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. The key signature has one sharp (F#) and the time signature is 2/4. The score ends with a double bar line and repeat signs in the final system.

This image displays a handwritten musical score for piano, organized into seven systems. Each system consists of a grand staff with a treble clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. The music is written in a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a 2/4 time signature. The notation is dense and intricate, featuring a variety of note values including eighth, sixteenth, and thirty-second notes, as well as rests and accidentals. Many notes are marked with a 'h' above them, likely indicating a specific performance technique such as a harmonic or a breath mark. The score includes repeat signs at the beginning of the first system and at the end of the seventh system. The handwriting is fluid and characteristic of a composer's draft. The paper shows signs of age, with some staining and wear visible along the right edge.
